

Perma.cc instructions for Sponsored Users

First steps for Sponsored Users

In principle, every user must first register with their own account. Each user has ten free links at their disposal, which can only be edited by them.

If a user wishes to use the unlimited contingent of the University Library (UB), the corresponding account must be affiliated with the University of Zurich (UZH). Please note that the perma links saved there are also accessible to other users.

To use the UB's contingent as an independent user, please contact the Open Science Services (OSS) via the mail address oa@ub.uzh.ch. They can add you as a sponsored user.

Rights of a Sponsored Users

As a sponsored user, you will be able to access the UB contingent and save links in it. Once you have activated your account, you will see a drop-down menu below the input mask where you can see the UB contingent. You will also see a new folder on the left for your personal links and one for the links you have created in the UB contingent. Please note that these are also visible to Registrar Users.
